

COURT OF HONOR IN WHICH PRESIDENT WILSON WILL REVIEW PARADE.

and still others wanted permits to enable them to take photographs.

Some callers had been given to understand that the police department had charge of the big stand at the Capitol grounds. Permits to sell souvenirs and trinkets on the streets were requested, and persons who had baskets of sandwiches wanted to know if it was necessary for them to have permits.

Scores of the callers learned that the police department had been exhausted and it then remained for them to become diplomatic. Some asserted they were nominal representatives of members of Congress or cabinet officers undoubtedly thinking the rule would bring the desired result, but so numerous were the callers that Maj. Sylvester was unable to see all of them and they had to take their chances with those who made no pretense of having influential connections.

Special Policemen Sworn.

Chief Clerk Hesse was kept busy this morning swearing in special policemen, additional men for duty with the Washington Terminal force and detectives from other cities. Inspector Boardman had about sixty visiting detectives at roll call this morning. Roll call was held in a big room on the third floor, the accommodations in the detective office having been insufficient to accommodate the men.

Visiting detectives were assigned partners for the several days they are to be on duty here, and additional assignments will be made tonight and tomorrow morning when other arrivals from Baltimore and other cities are expected. A contingent of fifty uniformed policemen and half dozen detectives will reach here tomorrow morning, the uniformed men assembling at the sixth precinct police station and the plain-clothes men at headquarters.

William H. Vieth, chief of the Washington Terminal police force of nearly 100 men and several female detectives, it is expected will be a great help to the city's force. Most of the men appeared in new uniforms and presented a splendid appearance. Detectives from all sections of the country are on duty here and some of them are spending their time on trains coming from other points.

Force of Nearly 1,500 Men.

Maj. Sylvester has a force of regular and special policemen, members of the committee on order, aggregating something like 1,500 men. He expects the large force will keep the city free of crowds of every description and look to the members of the committee to assist in the enforcement of the minor regulations, especially the regulations against street and sidewalk obstructions and obstructions on the White Lot during the fireworks display.

Boxes, chairs and ladders were not permitted to be used along the line this afternoon, and tomorrow the rule against their use will be rigidly enforced, Maj. Sylvester says. It is feared by the police department that such obstructions would cause serious trouble in event of an evening incident starting pedestrians on the run.

Essex and Culver

Troops the Honor Escorts in Parade

The Essex Troop, which will be the official escort of President Wilson tomorrow, is going to and returning from the Capitol, is a part of the National Guard of New Jersey, and has its headquarters in Newark. The troop has a membership of 100 and, while a part of the state guard, is exclusive in the selection of its personnel. It is composed of men and boys, and one of the largest riding clubs in the country. In connection with the troop there is a social club known as the Essex Troop, which owns and has thoroughbred horses of the French road-horse type speeders and jumpers, each with a blue ribbon record.

Selected by Wilson.

The Essex Troop was selected as his official escort by Mr. Wilson last summer when it paid a visit to "the little white house" at Seagirt, N. J., where the President-elect accepted it as honor. The Essex Troop is a cavalry unit, and is stationed at 14th and 17th streets northwest. The uniform of the troop consists of a dark blue coat, light blue breeches and light blue puttees. The coat is decorated with a two-inch stripe down the sides and a black band with a yellow center and black plume.

INAUGURATION BRINGS MANY GOVERNORS HERE At Least a Dozen Now in the Capital and More Are to Arrive.

Governors of many states of the Union are already in Washington for the inauguration, with probably a half dozen more to arrive in the course of the day. Those who have reached Washington are quartered at the New Willard and Raleigh hotels or have found shelter with friends.

Among the arrivals today are Govs. Edward D. Bruce of Illinois, Elliott Major of Missouri, Locke Craig of North Carolina, John H. Moorehead of Nebraska, Aram J. Potlacher of Rhode Island, Luther Hall of Louisiana and John K. Tener of Pennsylvania. Former Gov. Hadley of Missouri is also in town.

Others in the city are Govs. William Sulzer of New York, James B. McCreary of Kentucky, Charles R. Miller of Delaware, William H. Mann of Virginia and Elias M. Ammons of Colorado. Govs. James F. H. of Mississippi, Woodbridge N. Ferris of Michigan and J. T. Robinson of Arkansas are expected to arrive in the course of the day.

Staff Accompanies Sulzer. Gov. Sulzer arrived last night and put up at the New Willard. He was accompanied by his military staff. The executive of the Empire state held a levee in the lobby for several hours, shaking hands with old acquaintances. Among those who had his private car for a few minutes was Perry Belmont.

Gov. Sulzer went on the floor of the House today. He was greeted with applause, which upset legislative business. The governor sat for a time with his former colleagues and then visited the Senate.

Gov. McCreary of Kentucky also is at the Willard, where he registered last night. He brings with him his family. He will not ride in the inaugural parade, having vetoed the proposition to send the Kentucky troops to Washington for the ceremony. The state debt made the governor hesitate to expend $3,000 to pay the expenses of 1,200 troops to bring them here and take them home.

Those at New Willard. Gov. Miller is at the New Willard. His staff accompanied him. Also at the New Willard are Govs. Dunne, Major, Potlacher and Tener, and Ex-Gov. Hadley. All arrived today.

Mayor Carter Harrison of Chicago, accompanied by about 250 members of the Cook County Democratic Marching Club, will arrive in Washington at 7:45 o'clock tomorrow morning. They will bring with them a band of sixty pieces.

TAMMANY ON ITS WAY Twenty-Five Hundred Braves to March in Tomorrow's Parade.

NEW YORK, March 3.—Six hats of uncertain vintage, frock coats and gray gloves were conspicuous in and about the Pennsylvania and Baltimore and Ohio terminals today. Tammany, 2,500 strong, was leaving for Washington to march in an inaugural parade for the first time in twenty years.

Six special trains—four over the Pennsylvania and two over the Baltimore and Ohio—were chartered to carry the braves. The first was scheduled to pull out at 1:30 p.m., the last at 1:45.

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, said he would get away on the latter. The railroad estimated that about 40,000 persons in all would be handled out of New York for Washington today. The 4th Regiment, Massachusetts National Guard, went through Jersey City at 7:30 o'clock this morning.

Thereafter, special trains of various sorts were moving almost continuously. The West Point cadets, after having journeyed down the Hudson, will start for the capital in two special trains over the Baltimore and Ohio at 9 and 10 o'clock tonight.

NAVAL MILITIAMEN HERE. Given Liberty to See City Today. Will Parade Tomorrow.

Quartered in the barracks of the Naval Battalion, N. G. D. C., at 17th and 18th streets southwest, is the naval militia from Springfield and New Bedford, Mass., numbering about sixty men. They are under the command of Capt. J. K. Wilson. The boys are here to take part in the parade tomorrow and today have been given liberty to see the city.

The steamer Commodore Maury arrived this morning with Senator Massey, D. C., Lee and other officials of the Virginia fisheries commission aboard, who, with their families, come to witness the parade, and will return home Wednesday.

pos and Arguendo have enlisted their forces under the government, and have been sent to San Luis Potosi to assist the government to suppress the bandits still in that vicinity. Aguilar is reported to have been assigned to the command of the district surrounding Tehuacan, with the troops which he surrendered.

The ambassador states that news in Mexico City from the interior is meager. The embassy learns from railway officials that the railway continues to be cut at various points and bridges to be burned by bodies of armed men. This appears to be especially the case between Monterey and San Luis Potosi, where Carranza, although he formally submitted, is still in arms.

When William Jennings Bryan arrived in Washington today he was escorted by a reception committee to what is known as the presidential suite in a downtown hotel.

HUERTA FACES TEST War to Be Made on All Rebels Remaining in Arms. ATTACK ON TROOP TRAIN Sixty Federal Soldiers Reported Killed or Wounded. NEW PERIL FOR AMERICANS Carranza, Rebel Leader, Demands Large Sum to Pay and Feed His Men.

MEXICO CITY, March 3.—The firm and energetic military rule promised by the new Mexican government under Provisional President Huerta probably will be inaugurated this week. Huerta has had eight days of conferences with the various rebel chiefs or with commissioners sent by them.

The government is now disposed to consider as irreconcilable all those rebels who continue to delay definite recognition of the new order of things.

The program of pacification will, it is expected, be put to some severe tests. A band of adherents of Zapata fired on a federal troop train running from the capital to Cuernavaca today and sixty soldiers were killed or wounded.

Keep Up the Warfare. Similar bands of Zapatistas continue committing raids in the federal district itself, and in the state of Morelos, indicating that some of the mountaineer rebels to the south of the capital are determined to keep up their guerrilla warfare despite the negotiations between the government and the brothers Zapata.

While the federal government expresses itself as sanguine of success in the pacification of the country, a lack of harmony between the various bands of rebels in that region was developed on the arrival here of representatives of Orozco and other chiefs.

Today and tomorrow are to be devoted to conferences between these rebels and the ministers of war and interior. The railroads between the capital and the north are still interrupted. There has been practically no mail from the United States for fifteen days, except that brought by steamer to Vera Cruz.

Demands Money of Americans. American and other foreigners in Ciudad Porfirio Diaz, Mexico, are threatened with extortion by Col. Carranza, a rebel, who has demanded $20,000 to $25,000 to pay and feed his state volunteers. Col. Carranza, according to reports from the United States, says if the money is not forthcoming he will not be responsible for the depredations his men may commit.

The consul at Chihuahua reports Gov. Gonzalez still detained for examination a special court, although exonerated by a court-martial for complicity in a plot to resist the government. The whereabouts of Orozco still is unknown in Chihuahua. Although the state of Coahuila is in revolt, the city of Saltillo is quiet.

Consul Holland reports sending automobiles to bring stranded Americans from Cedral and Matheula to Saltillo.

Are Sent Against Bandits. Ambassador Wilson reports to the State Department that the rebels Cheche, Cam-

pos and Arguendo have enlisted their forces under the government, and have been sent to San Luis Potosi to assist the government to suppress the bandits still in that vicinity. Aguilar is reported to have been assigned to the command of the district surrounding Tehuacan, with the troops which he surrendered.

When William Jennings Bryan arrived in Washington today he was escorted by a reception committee to what is known as the presidential suite in a downtown hotel.

Whether he arrived in the capacity of the future Secretary of State, Mr. Bryan would not admit. When addressed as "Mr. Secretary" he merely smiled and said "thank you."

"I am watching the newspapers with great interest to learn who are to be the members of the next cabinet," said Mr. Bryan.

"Are you still watching for the announcement of the next Secretary of State?"

"I am very much interested to learn all about that appointment, as well as the others," Mr. Bryan replied.

The Nebraska denied a published report that he was holding up the announcement of the cabinet through a protest against the naming of William C. Clegg, New York as Secretary of the Treasury.

"I heard that story," he said, "as soon as it reached here. All I can say is that I wish men who write such news were compelled to sign their names. That would not add any weight to their words, but would materially lessen the likelihood of disseminating such misinformation."

As to Mr. Daniels' selection for the cabinet, Mr. Bryan said that the "persistent mention of some names as members of the cabinet led him to regard some reports with considerable credit."

"But I can only say as to a particular individual, he is of age, ask him," he said, referring to Mr. Daniels.

As soon as it was announced, a cheer rang out in the station from the throats of those waiting for trains, and the throng formed a lane from the gates to the exit through which the suffragists passed.

The procession was formed outside the station, and led by a band, went to take its place in the Just Government League of Maryland there were numerous county organizations supporting woman suffrage. A large number of the League of Women Suffrage of Maryland.

Strikers numbering 120 also were there. Each wore a ribbon with letters approximately three inches high, marking the individual as a striking garment worker. Circulars were distributed outside the station by the girls stating their grievances and the conditions for which they are working.

A special over the Baltimore and Ohio railway, made up at Martinsburg, arrived at 1 o'clock, bringing a crowd of trainmen to number more than 1,500 passengers. Among these was a big delegation of pupils and teachers of the Forest Glen School for Girls, who came to march in the big suffrage pageant this afternoon.

White and Blue Girls. The young women were costumed in pure white and wore flowing cloaks of pale blue, with caps of the same color. Teachers and members of the upper classes in the school wore the academic uniforms of black cap and gown. The delegation attracted the attention of practically every person in the huge crowd that from 10 o'clock this morning on filled the great concourse and the main waiting room of the Union station.

A fresh rush of special trains set in shortly after noon, and from that time to 3 o'clock twenty-eight specials pulled in. Fourteen of these came from Philadelphia, New York and eastern points, the others coming from the south and west. The Southern railway's train scheduled to arrive in Washington at 11:50 today came in in nine sections, and trains on other roads were run in from two to five sections.
